just as they are in a real packing house. Then there are the most won-uerful orchids and other fibwers of marvellous beauty as well as odd and curious plants of tropical and semi-tropical countries among which is the beautiful fern of Australia.

The French Building.

Here you must go early if you would avoid the rush and even then you must patiently stand in line until the door is opened and must meekly obey that "Splendiferous" being—the guard when he says in tones of des-potic authority, Move on! Keep to the right, "And you can get only one stingy little glimpse of those ador-able Paris gowns."

Women! Women! Old and young, rich and poor, smartly dressed and dowdily dressed all flock here, without regard to "race, color or previous condition of servitude." And not all women either; though as I heard one middle-aged world-hardened man remark in an affectedly prim manner, to his companion, another man of the same sort: "This is no place for a young man." The bodices of the models were extremely low.

But they didn't move on and out and let others take their places, it was to be noticed. Perhaps with such strict orders to "keep to the right, they

COUNTY GRANGE.

Fulton County Pomona Grange held an interesting session July 24th, in the home of Crescent Grange. The attendance was large. Reports from the various Granges of the county showed progress. A bountiful dinner was served by the good sisters of Crescent Grange. An interesting program was carried out:

The fact that the home is the special sphere for women is the best ground upon which to request the franchise. In fact, everything that pertains to the home belongs to the sphere of woman. She is responsible for it. With this in mind can anyone think of any issue which does not in some the various Granges of the county showed progress.
